 University of Rome La Sapienza: Master's in Mathematical Physics

I'm Martina, an IB Maths and Physics enthusiast based in Rome. My journey began with my love for STEM, leading me to become an influential tutor. My aim isn't just to help students achieve stellar grades but to light a spark that propels them into STEM careers. When I'm not teaching, I'm exploring the wonders of ancient Roman Maths.

Tutoring Experience

For the past 6 years, I've been offering guidance in IB Maths and Physics. Starting with tutoring college mates, I expanded my horizon to guide IB students throughout Rome. I've collaborated with international schools, providing bespoke revision sessions. Over time, my students not only witnessed academic improvement but developed a profound love for STEM, many now thriving in renowned universities worldwide.

Tutoring Approach

My method is holistic - I dive into the essence of Maths and Physics, intertwining them with real-world examples, especially drawing from Rome's rich history. Initially, I provide a comprehensive overview of the topic, followed by meticulous problem-solving sessions. I believe in feedback, so every lesson concludes with reflective practices. This approach ensures students don't just memorize but truly comprehend, preparing them to face any exam with confidence.
