Tutoring Experience

I have tutored over 1000 students online (students mainly from US and UK, a few from other countries like Italy, Germany, Singapore, Japan, UAE, India) and completed over 20,000 successful tutoring hours (and still counting) in a span of 16 years!

98% of my students have completed a whole academic year, if not more with me.

My AP, IB and SAT students have come out with great scores. I have a rich exposure to US and UK curriculum, courses like GCSE, IGCSE, A/AS Levels, Basic Chem, Honors Chem, College General Chemistry I and II, Organic Chemistry I, and subject tests like AP, IB (SL and HL), SAT II Chem, Regents, STAR, etc. I have been an academic coach to all my students.

I am a very friendly and patient teacher who endeavors to encourage students to use their maximum potential one step at a time. I'm sure working with me would be a pleasant and rewarding experience.

Tutoring Approach

I am confident that you would find my tutoring sessions enjoyable and easy to follow. I am a hard working and dedicated tutor and I can simplify any concept in Chemistry that may be difficult for you to grasp.

With my former experience in teaching both College and school students I am quick to identify the areas that need attention and strengthen them. I am passionate about the subject I teach, passionate about bringing out the best in each student.

Patience is my strong point. I personalize the curriculum to cater to each student's needs.

My long years of experience has taught me first hand that each child is unique, and so the tutoring needs to be personalized bearing in mind their strengths and weaknesses, interests and pace. Most students are visual learners. I use molecular models that I have with me via webcam to explain many Chemical concepts like molecular reactions, balancing, molecular shapes, mechanisms of reaction, etc. I also share animations wherever appropriate by screen sharing, which facilitates quicker and better understanding and retention of concepts.

I have excellent knowledge on the subject that I tutor (I was the top of my class in High School, and always among the first three in University). I make sure the lessons are interactive and not one-way. I ask related questions and quiz my students frequently during the tutoring sessions. That way I know if they are following me or if any topic needs revisiting. I encourage them to ask questions.
